Victor Jones Orchestrio: Jazz on an American instrument

Using the African-American tradition of call and response, children will participate in this interactive and fun performance learning about the history of drums in jazz and American music with Newark native Victor Jones and his Orchestrio. A few lucky kids will even get the chance to get up on stage and play the drums, or their own instrument if they bring one. Rounding out the trio is Dylan Meek on piano, Alex Blake on string bass and vocalist Taiko.

TIME: Saturday, November 2, 2013
Show begins at 12:30pm and lasts approximately one hour
(please arrive at 12:00 to ensure seating)

PLACE: Clinton Elementary School, 27 Berkshire Road, Maplewood, NJ 07040
MORE INFO: Keli Tianga, Clinton School PTA, 973-763-1942

YOU BRING THE KIDS, WBGO BRINGS THE JAZZ...

The WBGO Kids Jazz Concert Series is a free concert series bringing jazz culture and performance to your neighborhood. These interactive, hour-long concerts give kids opportunities to learn about the distinct qualities of jazz, and why it's a reflection of our community, our nation, and our world! Q&A sessions with the artists, small gifts, and a chance to win a door prize are just some of the reasons to come out and join us!
